VERONA-VENICE EXPRESS

Verona to Venice: a short great route through Northern Italy

This 3-days easy route crosses Veneto region from the West to the East, touching Verona, Montagnana, Padua and Venice, following river Adige and river Brenta. Ride your bike for two days: the road is flat and mostly along bike paths. Get on the boat on day 3: the “Burchiello” boat follows the course of the Brenta River; the best way to get to Venice by sea. During the navigation, the boat tour guide will tell the ancient history of the Republic of Venice in various languages. You’ll visit three Venetian Villas, two of which are Palladian, Unesco heritage. The strongest emotion is the passage from the river to the sea, when the view widens over the large body of water and the city of Venice gradually appears, with its bridges, churches and magnificent buildings suspended over the water.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ROUTES

Place of the tour: Italy > Veneto region

The Holiday is made by 2 bike routes and a full day river cruise.

DAY 1 From Verona to Montagnana by bike • 60 km / Flat / Almost all bike path

From Verona we head east following the river Adige, cycling on bike paths and narrow country roads. We stop in Cologna Veneta, city of the delicious mandorlato (nougat) and then we get to Montagnana, a small medieval city surrounded by well-preserved old walls.

DAY 2 From Montagnana to Padua by bike • 52 km / Flat / Secondary small roads and bike path

We leave Montagnana and ride towards the smooth profile of Euganean Hills, among cultivated fields in the countryside and by sinuous channels. We’ll cross the village of Este. Park your bike and enjoy a walk in the square with its cafes and under the shadow of big trees in the beautiful park of the castle. Pedaling to Padua, you can visit Monselice, Catajo castle, Valsanzibio monumental garden... Once arrived, we’ll come and pick up the bikes. Enjoy your evening in Padua!

DAY 3 From Padua to Venice by Burchiello boat

Today we’ll enjoy a slow mini-cruise on Brenta’s waters: a river of Villas. The boat passes through nine swivelling bridges and five locks. It stops at Villa Foscari known as La Malcontenta, Villa Widmann in Mira and Villa Pisani in Stra for guided visits. If you like, book the optional lunch at the famous restaurant Il Burchiello in Oriago, where the barge moors. The mini-cruise concludes its trip in Venice, right in front of San Marco church.
